

Learn more about MARSH at marshlife-art.org

Become an owner of the MARSH Co-op by:

- Purchasing a share (suggested $100, pay what your household can afford or more to help subsidize another member.
- Shopping at the co-op ten times.

Co-op shares are good for a lifetime and payments are refundable.

A share makes you eligible to vote, hold office, propose usage of the space, and place orders through our online catalog at

marshcoop.org

Buy your groceries from the co-op by:

- Shopping at the sliding- scale store, 6917 S. Broadway.
Hours are Tuesday through Sat 9-7
- Placing an order through our (24,000+ items) online catalog of near-wholesale-priced natural and organic foods (order deadline Monday at midnight for pickup the next Saturday.)
- Joining the CCSA, a combined subscription program offering a weekly share of produce from the MARSH gardens, prepared food from the MARSH Kitchen, and a curated, meal-based selection of quality groceries. Vegan, vegetarian, and omnivore options. Delivery available. We accept EBT and offer subsidies whenever possible.

MARSH

A sliding scale cooperative grocery, a CSA, an urban farm, a kitchen/diner, a gathering space, and a laboratory for

Contact us at bioculturalist@gmail.com

WHY A COOPERATIVE!

COOPERATIVES seek to operate by principles instead of profit.

COOPERATIVES are a form of community ownership.

COOPERATIVES are democratically governed.

COOPERATIVES are funded by member shares.

COOPERATIVES welcome everyone who wants to explore systems of mutual benefit.

COOPERATIVES value learning and sharing.

COOPERATIVES work toward social justice, ecological responsibility, fair employment, and health and well-being for all.

MARSH IS THREE CO-OPS IN ONE.

The CONSUMER CO-OPERATIVE pools resources to improve access to more economical food, reduce negative impact on the environment, promote justice and well-being, and foster sustainable relational economies.

The WORKER CO-OPERATIVE collaborates to manage an environmentally sustainable and fair labor enterprise that benefits the community.

The PRODUCER CO-OPERATIVE develops practices and products that mutually benefit all participants in the cooperative ecosystem.